WHAT IS GRØNNKÖPINGKIÐ?

Grønnsköpingkið University Hospital is a place to find inspiration and information on workable solutions that can increase the sustainability performance for hospitals and other healthcare facilities.

The website is a digital catalogue where different sustainable solutions for healthcare are gathered, showcased and described. The different categories appear as icons across the hospital picture. If you click on one of the icons, a list of different solutions appears and you will be able to find information on their sustainability performance, sites where it is installed today, suppliers' contact information and more.

NCSH directs enquiries to worldsgreenesthospital.org for potential customers to contact companies directly.

Grøn is the Danish word for green with the Nordic letter ø

Köping is a common part of old Swedish city names and refers to trading - typical Swedish ö ð is a letter used in Icelandic, Faroese and Elfdalian. It was also used in the rest of Scandinavia during the Middle Ages.

(Grøn)(n)(köping)(ki)(ð)

If you add an n to the Danish Grøn you get the Norwegian word for green - Grønn ki is the last part of Helsinki - the Finnish capital and the last part in the Finnish word for city - kaupunki

WHY GRØNNKÖPINGKIÐ?

The Nordics are considered to be in the forefront when it comes to sustainable healthcare. Today, there is a great interest from international actors who want to know more about Nordic sustainable healthcare.

NCSH regularly receives enquiries from actors interested in knowing what solutions and techniques are installed and used in Nordic hospitals. Grønnköpingkið will make it easy for hospital planners, builders etc. to get a view of what different sustainable solutions exist on the market today.

If you are interested in showcasing your solution here at Grønnköpingkið, or would like to see a demo of the website, please contact us!
